This proposal describes LUMA Institute’s efforts to support Texas A&M University and grantees of The Innovative Teen Pregnancy Prevention Programs project (iTP3 project) through the delivery of a “90-Days to Impact Program”.

2. Goal & Objective
The goal and objective is to support Texas A&M University and grantees of the iTP3 project through the delivery of a “90-Days to Impact Program”. This program has been designed to support better outcomes by empowering people to apply design thinking in their daily work, beyond initial training, building competence over a 90-Day period.

A cohort of up to 20 will receive the following:

Training and Support:
- One (1) 2-Day “Fundamentals of Innovation through Human-Centered Design” Workshop tailored to support the iTP3 project and its grantees.
- Three (3) two-hour Check-ins at 30, 60 or 90-Days. One (1) two-hour check-in with LUMA and Two (2) two-our check-ins with Texas A&M University/iTP3 project staff.

Resources:
- Practitioner Starter Kit including: “Innovating for People” Handbook, Planning Cards, Project Planning Materials and Key Attributes of an Innovative Practitioner
- Peer to Peer Collaboration Tools including: Practice Co-Evaluation, Practitioner Passport and Case Story Template
- 1-Year Individual Subscription to On-Demand Resources within LUMA Workplace

Certification:
- Digital Badge, Certificate and Daily Practice Pack for participants that have shown proof of competence leveraging the LUMA System within their daily work, and are therefore deemed Certified Practitioners upon completion of the program.

3. Process
One (1) LUMA Certified Instructor will be committed to instructional design, preparing for, and delivering the 2-Day “Fundamentals of Innovation through Human-Centered Design” Workshop. One (1) Support Instructor (Kelly Wilson) will be provided by the Texas A&M University/iTP3 project team. Kelly’s instructional support will be based on her completion of LUMA’s Fundamentals Workshop and LUMA’s Advanced Workshop).

At the end of the 2-Day Workshop, participants will identify their Peer Partners, and commitments made for the first 30-days.

One (1) LUMA Certified Instructor will be committed to preparing for and delivering one (1) of the 30, 60 and 90-Day Check-ins (which can be delivered remotely or in-person). Texas A&M University/iTP3 will manage delivery of the other two (2) Check-ins.

During the Check-in events, participants will share their learning, receive additional coaching and deepen their competence over time by practicing and applying the LUMA System of Innovating for People within their daily work.

The cohort will have on-demand access to practical resources in the form of Peer Collaboration Tools and LUMA Workplace.
